Flare Hacks

Lighting the way for a better future in 2020.

July 24-26

Our Mission

2020 has been a harsh year, from the coronavirus to the recent outrage over the death of George Floyd. In times like these, students often find themselves at home not knowing what to do with themselves. We aim to reignite the flame of creativity inside of them through the use of a hackathon, giving them strength and purpose.

Why Sponsor?

While recruiting high school students is not possible, it is extremely important to ensure that the next generation of developers keeps coding and creating, continuously improving themselves so that they improve the world. With our contribution, we can help motivate students to do just that. It is also important for you, as exposing these students to your APIs and products gives them the chance to use these powerful products as they lead this world into the future.
